VOL. XLV., No. 7.

NEW YORK, February 17, 1894.

WHOLE NO. 1151

D. APPLETON & CO.'S NEW BOOKS.

The Fauna of the Deep Sea.

By SYDNEY J. HICKSON, M.A., Fellow of Downing College, Cambridge. A new volume in the Modern Science Series, edited by Sir John Lubbock, Bart. With 23 illustrations. 12mo, cloth, $1.00.

"Our present-day knowledge of the physical conditions of the bottom of the deep sea and the animals that dwell there is by no means inconsiderable. It is the object of this little book to bring together in a small compass some of the more important facts and considerations, and to present them in such a form that they may be of interest to those who do not possess a specialist's knowledge of genera and species."—From the Preface.

Benefits Forgot.

By WOLCOTT BAILESTIER, author of "Reffey," "A Common Story," etc. 12mo, cloth, $1.50.

This is the story which attracted such wide-spread attention during its recent publication in the Century. It is a novel of American life, combining a command of incident and movement with a rare power of analysis and observation.

Science and Christian Tradition.

By THOMAS H. HUXLEY. The fifth volume of the author's Collected Essays. 12mo, cloth, $1.25.

CONTENTS: Prologue.—Scientific and Pseudo-Scientific Realism.—Science and Pseudo-Science.—An Episcopal Trilogy.—The Value of Witness to the Miraculous.—Possibilities and Impossibilities.—Agnosticism.—Agnos-ticism: A Rejoinder.—Agnosticism and Christianity.—The Keepers of the Herd of Swine.—Illustrations of Mr. Gladstone's Controversial Methods.

The Mentor:

A Little Book for the Guidance of such Men and Boys as would Appear to Advantage in the Society of Persons of the Better Sort. By ALFRED AYRES, author of "The Orthoëpist," "The Verbalist," etc. New and revised edition. 18mo, cloth, $1.00.

A Ward in Chancery.

By Mrs. ALEXANDER, author of "The Wooing o't," "For His Sake," etc. No. 134, Town and Country Library. 12mo, paper, 50 cents; cloth, $1.00.

The author of "The Wooing o't" needs no introduction to American readers. In her next book she offers a most sympathetic study of a woman's character, with a picture of an unconventional hero, the whole forming a story of sustained interest and merit.

OTHER RECENT ISSUES IN THE DUTTON EASTER CARDS.

Twenty-four Numbers. Seventy-two different Designs, very beautifully printed in delicate colors.

Retail Prices, 5, 10, and 15 Cents Each.

Special Prices for the Wholesale Trade.

NEW BOOKS FOR THE SPRING SEASON.

They Met in Heaven. By GEORGE HEPWORTH, author of "Hiram Golf's Religion." 16mo, 216 pages, cloth, 75 cents.

"This is a tender and helpful study in religious experiences. . . . To many Dr. Hepworth's method may be a hand stretched out from heaven. To all it will be a book of pure, gentle, and persuasive Christian inspiration."—Independent.

Hiram Golf's Religion; or, The Shoemaker by the Grace of God. By GEORGE H. HEPWORTH. 8th thousand. 16mo, 134 pages, cloth, 75 cents.

"Plain talks of a shoemaker and a parson. They are in dialect; the style is both quaint and strong. A book that gives the reader something to think about. . . . The sterling, homely common sense of the book is commanding wide attention."—N. Y. Evangelist.

Stephen Remark. The Story of a Venture in Ethics. By JAMES ADDERLEY. 12mo, 150 pages, cloth, 75 cents.

"The book is suggestive and pathetic."—The Critic. "Is worth reading, not only by all who profess and call themselves Christians, but by all who take any interest in the social questions of the day."—Churchman.

Pax and Carlino. A Story. By ERNST BECKMAN. Illustrated. 16mo, 196 pages, cloth, $1.00.

"Is it a true story? That is the question which will be almost sure to come to the lips of children who read about Carlino's strange adventures. To this I may answer both yes and know."—From Preface.

"An ideal story for children. Carlino and his dog are life-like pictures, and the Swedish uncle is better than a fairy god-mother. The illustrations are excellent, and a more entertaining book for boys and girls would be hard to find."—N. Y. Observer.

The Close of St. Christopher's. A Story for Girls. By EMMA MARSHALL. Illustrated. 12mo, 346 pages, cloth, $1.50.

"This favorite author, who describes girl-life with so much freshness and fidelity, will add to her reputation by 'The Close of St. Christopher's.' There is a quiet, steady-growing interest throughout the book which girls will appreciate."—London Bookseller.

When We Two Parted. A Story. By SARAH DOUDNEY. Illustrated. 12mo, 478 pages, cloth, $1.50.

NOTES IN SEASON.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS will publish immediately in answer to the increased popular demand for Miss Harraden's clever story, "Ships that Pass in the Night," a railroad edition of the book in paper covers. This will be offered to the trade at exceptionally favorable net prices. They are now printing the 7th thousand of the authorized American edition. Of the English edition over 17,000 copies have been sold.

LONGMANS, GREEN & CO. have just ready

"Tales of a Nomad, or, sport and strife," by Charles Montague, containing chapters on A ride for dear life, My five buffaloes, My three sea-cows, Flat game and small game, The storming of Secocoenis, The siege of Marabastadt, A lucky kill, My big tusker, and A tale of three elephants; and an autobiography of Arthur Hill Hassall, M.D., under the title of "The Narrative of a Busy Life."

MACMILLAN & CO. have just issued the second volume of Murray's "New English Dictionary," which finishes the letter C; "The Economic Geology of the United States," with brief mention of foreign mineral products, by R. S. Tarr, of Cornell University; "The Study of the Biology of Ferns by the Collodion Method," by George F. Atkinson, also of Cornell; and "A History of Mathematics," by Florian Cajori, professor of physics in Colorado College. They have in preparation "Social Evolution," by Benjamin Kidd; and Dr. C. Ellis Stevens' "Sources of the Constitution of the United States."

E. P. DUTTON & CO. have prepared their usual supply of pretty souvenirs for the Easter season. Although almost every idea and every style of presenting it would seem to have been exhausted in former years, this year's cards and booklets again show the originality of thought and the delicacy of execution with which the Dutton imprint is identified. From the writings of Phillips Brooks have been prepared "The Easter Flower," "Easter Angels," and "An Easter Carol." The musical verse of Frances Ridley Havergal has furnished the text of "A Joyful Easter-Tide," "An Easter Token," "An Easter Wish," and "An Easter Message." From John Keble has been selected "Sweet Easter-Tide," and from George Herbert "Easter Peace." About two dozen more pretty novelties are ready, and there is also one of the finest collections of Easter cards ever shown by the house. They will also publish at once "The Life Here and Hereafter," an Easter sermon by the late Phillips Brooks.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & CO. will publish on the 24th Dr. Justin Winsor's new work, entitled "Cartier to Frontenac: a study of geographical discovery in the interior of North America in its historical relations, 1534-1700," an important chapter of the geographical history of the age of American explorations, with full cartographical illustrations from contemporary sources; a cheaper edition of "William Lloyd Garrison, 1805-1879, the story of his life told by his children," till recently published by The Century Company; "A Poet's Portfolio—later readings," by William Wetmore Story, a little book like the author's "He and She"—a collection of lyrics strung on the silver thread of an entertaining conversation between a lady and a gentleman; "In Exile, and other stories," by Mary Hallock Foote; "John Larkin Lincoln, 1817-1891," containing a memorial address by Prof. Geo. P. Fisher, and extracts from the diary and letters, and also twenty-one papers chosen from the writings of Prof. Lincoln, who was for nearly fifty years one of the most eminent professors in Brown University; and "The Sir Roger de Coverley Papers," in the Riverside Literature Series. They will also publish immediately in the Salem edition of Hawthorne's works "The Blithedale Romance," with an introduction by George Parsons Lathrop.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no prices, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

An Australian millionaire leaves his fortune to a nephew and niece on condition that they marry each other within three months after his death, and that the nephew assumes the family name of Ochiltree. While the pair are firm friends, they are not "in love" and rebel bitterly against the conditions—but finally go through "a marriage ceremony" in order to save the property. A pretty comedy ensues, in which Mr. and Mrs. Ochiltree are depicted as changing from indifference to love. The scene opens in England and shifts to Australia.

During his labors as joint author of "The English church in the 18th century," the canon of Lincoln and the rector of Epworth was carried forward into the 19th century. For twenty years he has been collecting his material for this volume, and has passed five years in preparing his facts for publication. The headings of the ten chapters give the scope of this important work: The general state of the church; the orthodox; the "evangelicals;" the "liberals;" church services and church fabrics; church literature; the church and education; church societies; church and state; intercourse with sister churches. Brings the history of the English church down to the "Oxford movement."

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

FEBRUARY 17, 1894.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Books for the "Weekly Record," as well as all information intended for that department, must reach this office by Tuesday morning of each week.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

POETS AND PUBLISHERS.

RICHARD LE GALLIENNE contributes to The Speaker a witty essay on the relations of poets and publishers, in which, curiously enough, he holds a brief for the latter, who are, he considers, "in the main a very much abused race." Taking Dr. Johnson's definition of booksellers as "the patrons of literature," and Anatole France's characterization of the publisher as "a kind of minister of belles-lettres," Mr. Le Gallienne thinks that, fairly dealt with, the history of publishing would show a much nearer living up to these definitions on the part of publishers than the poets and their sentimental sympathizers are inclined to admit. "We hear a great deal," he says, "of Milton getting £5 for 'Paradise Lost,' and the Tonsons riding in their carriage, but seldom of Cottle adventuring £40 on the 'Lyrical Ballads,' or the Jacksons giving two untried boys £10—or, according to some accounts £20—for 'Poems by Two Brothers.'"

"To open the case for the bookseller or the publisher," Mr. Le Gallienne says, "The poet, to start with, bases his familiar complaints on a wilful disregard of the relation which poetry bears to average humanity. You often hear him express indignant surprise that the sale of butchers' meat should be a more lucrative business than the sale of poetry. But surely to do this is to manifest a most absurd disregard for the facts of life. Wordsworth says that 'we live by admiration, joy, and love.' So doubtless we do; but we live far more by butchers' meat and Burton ales. Poetry is but a preparation of opium distilled by a minority for a minority. The poet may test the case by the relative amounts he pays his butcher and his bookseller. So far as I know, he pays as little for his poetry as possible, and never buys a volume by a brother-sizer till he has vainly tried six different ways to get a presentation copy. The poet seems incapable of mastering the rudimentary truth that ethereals must be based on materials. 'No song, no supper' is the old saw. It is equally true reversed—no supper, no song. The empty-stomach theory of creation is a cruel fallacy, though undoubtedly hunger has sometimes been the spur which the clear soul doth raise.

"The conditions of existence compel the publisher to be a tradesman on the same material basis as any other. Ideally, a poem, like any other beautiful thing, is beyond price; but, practically, its value depends on the number of individuals who can be prevailed upon to purchase it. An unprinted poem is a spiritual thing, but a printed poem is subject to the laws of matter. In the heaven of the poet's imagination there are no printers and paper-makers, no binders, no discounts to the trade and thirteen to the dozen; but on earth, where alone, so far as we know, books exist, these terrestrial beings and conditions are of paramount importance, and cannot be ignored. It may be perfectly true that a certain poem is so fine that, in a properly constituted cosmogony, it ought to support you to the end of your days; but is the publisher to blame that, in spite of its manifest genius, he can sell no more than five hundred copies?"

Mr. Le Gallienne also demonstrates that poets make their money more easily than most of their fellows, as for "a half hour's beggarly work" they receive as much as "many a city clerk receives for six days' hard work, eight hours to the dreary day, with perhaps a family to keep and a contract to pay;" and moreover, they have the option of going about with a feeling of vast superiority to the rest of the world, in virtue of their rhyming gift. He touches also upon the arrogance of the poet: "It is one of the most foolish and distasteful of his faults, and one which unfortunately the world has conspired from time immemorial to confirm. He has been too long the spoiled child; too long allowed to think that anything becomes him; too long allowed to ride rough-shod over the neck of the average man."

"Mrs. Browning, in 'Aurora Leigh,' while celebrating the poet, sneers at 'your common men' who 'lay telegraphs, gauge railroads, reign, reap, dine.' But why? All these—with, perhaps, the exception of reigning—are very proper and necessary things to be done, and any one of them, done in the true spirit of work, is every bit as dignifying as the writing of poetry, and often, I am afraid, a great deal more so. This scorn of the common man is but another instance of the poet's ignorance of the facts of life and the relations of things. The hysterical bitterness with which certain sections of modern people of taste are constantly girding at the bourgeoisie—which, indeed, as Omar Khayyam says, heeds 'as the sea's self should heed a pebble-cast'—is one of the most melancholy of recent literary phenomena. It was not so the great masters treated the common man—nor any full-blooded age. But the torch of taste has for the moment fallen into the hands of little men, anaemic and atrabilious—men with neither laughter nor pity in their hearts."

His conclusion is rather sweeping. "We live," he says, "in an age of every man his own priest and his own lawyer. At a pinch we can very well be every man his own poet. If the whole supercilious crew of modern men of letters, artists, and critics were wiped off the earth to-morrow, the world would be hardly conscious of the loss. Nay, if even the whole artistic accumulation of the past were to be suddenly swallowed, it would be little worse off. For the world is more beautiful and wonderful than anything that has ever been written about it, and the most glorious picture is not so beautiful as the face of a spring morning."

HISTORY OF THE WORLD'S COLUMBIAN EXPOSITION.

EX-SENATOR PALMER, of Michigan, president of the World's Fair Commission; Prof. O. V. Tousley, a commissioner from Minnesota, who has been selected as the historian of the commission; John Boyd Thacher, of Albany, chairman of the executive committee on awards, and Benjamin F. Butterworth, of Ohio, who was for a time the secretary of the commission, held a conference at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, New York, last week, and discussed the work to be done in preparing and publishing a history of the fair.

It was decided to prepare an introduction or preface to the history, which will deal with the events which led up to the establishment of the fair and the acts of Congress authorizing it, and will include a review of the industrial and educational advantages resulting from it and the general interest taken in the fair throughout the civilized world.

This is to be followed by the report of President Palmer, which will contain a history of the opening ceremonies, and deal largely with the exhibitions made by the United States and foreign nations. The report of the secretary will include synopses of the legislation of the commission, the work of the board of control and the executive committee, and a full financial statement.

The report of the council of administration will cover the erection of the buildings and the manner in which the fair was conducted in all its details. There will also be separate reports of the board of lady managers, the Chicago directory, the committee on awards and the director-general. The latter will include a report from the heads of each of the thirteen departments into which the exhibition was divided.

The report of the executive committee on awards will be made by John Boyd Thacher, the chairman. The preparation of the reports of the congresses held during the fair has been entrusted to Mr. Butterworth.

Prof. Tousley thinks that nearly a year will be consumed in the preparation of the history. It will probably consist of thirty octavo volumes of five or six hundred pages each. Director-General George R. Davis is now in Florida preparing his report.

There has already been considerable work done in preparing reports and compiling statistical and other matter, and the work will be advanced as rapidly as possible. It is thought that the report of the executive committee on awards will occupy fifteen volumes of the history. Between 26,000 and 27,000 medals will be awarded.

When the history is complete it will be submitted to President Cleveland, and will be printed under the direction of Congress.

THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE WAR OF THE REBELLION.

THE most extensive literary work ever undertaken in this country is the military history now being produced by the government of the United States, under the title of "War of the Rebellion, a Compilation of the Official Records of the Union and Confederate Armies." It is probably the largest history ever published in the world. It was begun just twenty years ago, and will be practically finished at the end of the next fiscal year.

The whole work when completed will embrace 120 huge royal octavo volumes of 1000 pages each, and a gigantic atlas, and the ultimate cost will be something like $2,500,000 for the 11,000 copies printed.

Up to this date eighty-nine serial volumes have been published, and about $1,800,000 has been spent in all branches of the work, or about $20,000 per volume. The printing and binding alone cost $10,000 per volume, while the previous preparation of each volume for the printer's hands cost an equal sum of $10,000.

The distribution of the printed volumes as they come out is conducted on an unusual plan, in accordance with a law of the Forty-seventh Congress, passed in 1882. Of the 11,000 copies ordered to be printed, 1000 are set aside for the various executive departments; 1000 are reserved for distribution by the Secretary of War among army officers and contributors to the work; 8300 copies are being sent to such libraries, posts, organizations, and individuals as were designed to receive them by Senators, Representatives, and delegates of the Forty-seventh Congress, and the 700 copies over are for sale at the War Department (with a possible 500 more, owing to the death of original beneficiaries), at 10 per cent. above the bare cost of printing, the proceeds to be turned into the Treasury. The books can be had at the Department by purchase at from 50 to 85 cents per volume, if bound in black cloth, and $1 extra per volume if bound in half turkey. None can be had free on application. The 89 serial parts already published can be had for $56.10 in cloth. The atlas, when complete, will cost $12, or 40 cents a part, there being 30 parts.

COMMUNICATIONS.

POSTAL-CARDS FOR FOREIGN CORRESPONDENCE.

32 GAY ST., BATH, ENG., Feb. 2, 1894.

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

DEAR SIR: In reply to advertisements in your journal we have received a number of post-cards which, according to new regulation of your postal authorities, are larger than are allowed for foreign correspondence. They have been surcharged six cents in all cases. These cards are for use in the United States only. A warning note to your readers may save them disappointments. They must use the foreign cards or smaller ones. B. & J. F. MEEHAN.

[The largest sized United States postal-cards, if sent to countries of the Postal Union, will hereafter be subject to letter postage. If a less amount is prepaid, such cards will be liable to double the amount of the deficiency. It appears that this card is larger than the maximum-sized cards, which are exchangeable between the Postal Union countries. Such cards can, however, still be delivered in Mexico and Canada as heretofore. In those countries our own postal regulations are in force. It would be safer, however, in every case to use the international postal-card.—ED. P. W.]

FOR THE RIGHTS OF THE PUBLISHER OR THE BENEFIT OF THE STUDENT: WHICH SHALL IT BE?

To the Editor of The Publishers' Weekly.

SIR: A dissatisfied publisher in this city, a subscriber to your journal, has just called my attention to an editorial paragraph in your columns, December 16, as follows:

"While it may not be within the province of a book trade journal to criticise any of the features of the proposed tariff bill, nevertheless, as one interested in education and the advancement of learning, we cannot help expressing a regret that the Committee on Ways and Means of the House of Representatives did not recognize the wisdom of extending more generally the privilege of importing English books published within twenty years from the date of importation. This duty, especially since the passage of the international copyright law, has little or no justification, because English books copyrighted in this country are already protected; and as for the revenue from those not so protected that seems insignificant when compared with the benefit that might be derived by students who are now often deterred from buying such books because of the needless difficulties placed in their way. It is to be hoped that when the section in question comes up for debate our law-makers will consider the matter in favor of a worthy if not abundantly large portion of the community."

Not one word is here found touching the effects upon the American book trade of the free importation of English books, or of the passage of the Wilson Tariff Bill. To me it seems that "the province of a book trade journal" is or ought first to be to look after the interests of the book trade of its own country. THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is, on the contrary, persistently looking after the so-called "rights" of foreign authors, and "the benefit that might be derived by students" from the policy in any copyright or tariff act, without regard to their effects on the book trade of the United States. We hear too much of the rights of authors and the benefits to be had by students from this or that policy. A journal claiming to represent the American book trade should be first, last, and all the time American.

The idea that taxation is necessary to the very existence of society, and that no productive industry in a country can escape it, seems to be wholly overlooked and ignored by those theorists, like yourself, who would benefit students and others while sacrificing the fundamental rights of domestic producers. It being utterly impossible to produce in this country a book, a part of the cost of which is not taxes, the student has no right to the free importation of books from abroad. In a word, the policy which you advocate is highly unjust, because it would discriminate against the American publisher. As for the student himself, and for the state, it may be said with entire truth that many of these foreign books, which you would allow him the privilege of importing free, would teach him doctrines which are utterly antagonistic to the best interests of American society, such free importation, in that case, thus being against public policy. The fact is this country, through the medium of the college, is being honeycombed and our civilization is being threatened with destruction, by reason of the absorbing of foreign ideas, especially English, and of an economic character. Rather would I put a prohibitive tariff on books containing such ideas than admit those books free of duty.

Conceived in the brain of a student, a professor, and a president of a college, the Wilson Tariff Bill stands out as an embodiment of all the bad teachings of the college during the past hundred years! It is a menace to every branch of American industry, and is at this moment causing a destructive paralysis of the book trade itself, not by reason of direct legislation on books, but by reason of its threatened destruction of American productive industries generally. Will you not, therefore, cease to ask that the book trade and its products shall be more directly brought under the blighting influences of this infamous act, but will you not rather raise your voice in favor of its defeat, to the end that the trade of which you are the organ may experience a revival, which it cannot while Prof. Wilson threatens new and greater miseries to the American people than those under which they are now being crushed? As such an organ, it seems to me you can do no less.

HENRY CAREY BAIRD.

COPYRIGHT MATTERS.

THE FALK PHOTOGRAPH-COPYRIGHT SUIT UPHELD.

THE United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Judges Wallace and Lacombe, handed down a decision on the 10th inst. in the case of the Springer Lithographing Company, plaintiff in error, against Benjamin J. Falk, defendant in error, in which the decision of the lower court was affirmed with costs. The action was brought by Mr. Falk, to recover damages from the lithographing company for having lithographed and printed a copyrighted photograph. The jury found for Mr. Falk in the full amount, $3000. The opinion is by Judge Lacombe, and he held that to be an infringement of the photograph, the lithograph need not be an exact copy, as the law holds that a substantial copy of the distinctive ideas and characteristic features of the original photograph constitutes such infringement.

OBITUARY NOTES.

ROBERT M. BALLANTYNE, the prolific and popular writer of books for boys, died in Rome on the 8th inst. Mr. Ballantyne was born in Edinburgh in 1825. His first book, issued in 1848, was a record of personal experiences during a six years' residence (from 1841 to 1847) in the territories of the Hudson Bay Company. In 1856 he took to literature as a profession, making it his aim as far as possible to write from personal experience and introducing interesting facts and descriptions. His first tales were founded on experiences in the backwoods of Rupert's land among the fur-traders and red Indians. The "Lighthouse" was written after a short residence in the Bell Rock Lighthouse; "Erling the Bold," after a visit to Norway; and "The Sett'er and the Savage," after a visit to the cape. Up to January, 1887, he had written and published seventy-four volumes, of which sixty-seven were distinct tales.

MAXIME DU CAMP, the historian of the Paris Commune and author of a number of works on art, travel, etc., died in Paris on the 9th inst., aged 72 years.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MME. SARAH GRAND's forthcoming book is to be entitled "Our Manitold Lives. It is not a novel but a collection of short stories.

AN enthusiastic German has erected a monument to Heine in the wilds of Central Africa, placing thereon a suitable poetic inscription.

MR. CRAWFORD's new story is to be entitled "Katherine Lauterdale," and will concern itself with the affairs of the Lauterdales, a rich New York family. Three stories, each however complete in itself, will be devoted to the Lauterdales.

ARCHIBALD GUNTER's next novel will be called "A Princess of Paris," and it is to be followed by one entitled "The King's Stockbroker." Both stories have to do with the period of French history when paper money and speculation in organized companies were first introduced.

MME. NAHIDA RENNY, a talented German Jewess, has just published a work entitled "Culture Studies in Judaism." Mme. Renny, who is an accomplished Hebrew scholar, is deeply versed in Jewish history; she is the authoress of "The Jewish Woman," and has lectured on "Woman and the Talmud."

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—An adjourned meeting of the creditors of the D. Lothrop Company was held on the 12th inst. A report of the committee appointed by the creditors at the last meeting to investigate was handed in and read. The Lothrop family, to whom about $106,000 of the $250,000 liabilities is due for money loaned, have transferred their shares of whatever dividends are declared for the purpose of securing the notes indorsed by them for money advanced by the banks. The effect of this action is to reduce the liabilities, which must be immediately met, from $250,000 to $144,000, and to hasten the settlement of the firm's affairs. It is intended to form a new corporation as soon as practicable, which will assume the family liabilities and carry on the business.

COLUMBIA, Mo.—W. E. Harshe has started in the book, stationery, and fancy-goods business here.

LONDON, ONT.—E. A. Taylor, for many years the leading bookseller in London, died in Toronto, Ont., recently. He was widely and favorably known to the trade in Canada and the United States.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Godey Publishing Co. has made an assignment. The company, which is a New Jersey corporation, will be at once reorganized under New York State laws, so that the business will be continued without interruption.

NEW YORK CITY.—Lovell, Coryell & Company have participated in the general up-town move of the New York publishing houses. The local and visiting trade will henceforth find them located in the Cammeyer building, at the corner of Sixth Avenue and 20th Street, in connection with the parent house, the United States Book Co. Here a spacious and well-equipped ware-room will enable Lovell, Coryell & Co. to carry not only samples, but full lines of stock of their whole list of publications, as well as to have the offices of the company and its affiliated houses and the shipping and other departments all under one roof.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Merriam Company, formerly the Price-McGill Co., of St. Louis, has purchased the jobbing business of the firm of Saalfield & Fitch, and will continue the same for the present at the old quarters of the latter at the Bible House. The personnel of the company in New York will consist of R. H. Merriam, the president; Arthur H. Saalfield, who will act as vice-president and general manager of the jobbing business, and Jared How, who officiates as secretary. As already noted, The Merriam Company contemplated establishing an Eastern agency, and this seems to have been accomplished in combining their publishing with the jobbing business already established by Mr. Saalfield. As soon as suitable quarters can be found on Fifth Avenue, or in a street near it, somewhere below Twenty-third Street, The Merriam Company will remove, the present quarters being not only much too small, but too far removed from the centre of the regular trade.

NEW YORK CITY.—Henry Miller, the bookseller, has removed to larger quarters at 122 Nassau Street. Before leaving his old quarters at No. 65 Nassau Street, which had been occupied as a book-store under different owners for more than 75 years and is now making room for a larger building, Mr. Miller gave what might be called a farewell party to some of his friends. Although the clerks were busy putting the books into cases for removal, enough room was cleared to permit of the opening of several cases of wine, and "good-by" was drank to the old place in foaming beakers.

NEW YORK CITY—The New York News Company is now in its new quarters, at No. 26 City Hall Place. The building is a new structure, 25 x 85 feet, and is six stories high, with large basement. In the basement are the machinery, electric motors, etc. The store floor is devoted to books, and on the second story are the offices. The stationery department occupies the third floor, the express and foreign packing departments the fourth floor, the mail department the fifth floor, and the sixth floor is the stock-room.

MARION, IND.—Bailey & Glecker, stationers and booksellers, have failed.

MONTGOMERY, ALA.—Joel White & Woodruff, booksellers, have associated with them in business Mr. Ed. C. Fowler.

SCRANTON, PA.—Executions amounting to over $25,000 were issued against Claud B. Pratt, bookseller and stationer, on January 20. Five judgments were filed and executions were immediately issued on each and placed in the hands of the sheriff. The largest, according to the American Stationer, is a note to Mary E. Pratt, for $13,514.72; the next to Z. B. Phillips, for $7270; the next to W. W. Phillips, for $3000. There are two to Charles H. Welles, trustee, one for $1028.42 and another for $450.

SPRINGFIELD, ILL.—The book-store of C. C. Howorth was recently damaged by fire.

TORONTO, ONT.—The Williamson Book Company has arranged with its creditors, and is now doing business on King Street, near its old stand.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

RAND, McNALLY & Co. announce a volume of the essays and sketches contributed by Mme. Modjeska to various magazines and reviews.

J. SELWIN TAIT & SONS have in preparation a volume of short stories by Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, to be entitled "Before the Gringo Came."

D. APPLETON & Co., who were the original publishers of Gen. Sherman's memoirs, have again obtained from Charles L. Webster & Co. the control of the work.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS market in this country an English translation of Arthur Lévy's "Napoleon Intime" under the title of "The Private Life of Napoleon."

HARVEY FISK & SONS, bankers, New York City, have compiled a bond-book, being both a catalogue and a history of all bonds dealt in in this part of the country, which is said to be about as complete as anything of that kind that has ever been published.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY will issue directly a "Comic History of the United States," by Bill Nye; also a new fresh-air book by Dr. C. C. Abbott, entitled "Travels in a Tree Top," also the same author's handbook of American birds—"The Birds About Us."

GINN & CO. have in press in their International Modern Language Series Freytag's "Doktor Luther," four chapters of the author's "Bilder aus der deutschen Vergangenheit," which deal with the life and activity of the great reformer, first issued in a separate volume on the occasion of the Luther celebration in 1883. This has been edited and furnished with an introduction and notes by Frank P. Goodrich, instructor of German in Yale University.

AMBLARD & MEYER BROTHERS will publish at once a new book by Paul Bourget, entitled "Un Saint," which will be followed shortly by a new volume of Marcel Prévost, both additions to the Collection Lemerre. The latter, entitled "Nouvelles Lettres de Femmes," will be followed in June by another of this popular writer's stories, to be called "Les Deux Vièges." François Coppée's "Henriette;" Daniel Lesueur's "Haine d'Amour," and Daudet's "Soutien de Famille," are also in preparation.

A CORRESPONDENT writes to the Critic from Athens: "I have found at a book-stall here a copy of 'Leaves of Grass.' edition of 1867. It is a presentation copy from Walt Whitman; but the name of the person to whom he gave it has been torn out. Perhaps the book has been lost or stolen. If so I shall be glad to return it to its original owner, asking only that I may be assured that it goes to the person to whom it belongs. I hope that there is only one of him. A letter addressed American Legation, Athens, Greece, will reach me."

WILLIAM BEVERLEY HARISON has just issued eight numbers of "Harison's Vertical Penmanship." The numbers are put up in pads, enabling the teacher to permit a number of copy-sheets for practice before proceeding to the next step. Mr. Harison announces for early publication an "Essay on Physiology of Penmanship," by Dr. Javal (French Academy of Medicine). This essay is based largely upon the report of the commission appointed to examine into the cause of assymetry, near-sightedness, etc., in public schools. This little volume will be published as the second volume of the Pocket Pedagogical Library.

LOVELL, CORVELL & CO. have made arrangements for an active publishing season. They will bring out new editions of many of the most popular books in their long list of novels, and will from time to time add new works to their list. Among the notable writings promised are uniform editions of the works of Conan Doyle and Barrie; several of the works of Manville Fenn and Herman Melville; Cobban's "A Soldier and a Gentleman;" William Norris' "His Grace;" and "Countess Radna," a quite new story from the gifted novelist; and "Flying Visits: the English parliament on wheels," by Harry Furniss, the talented illustrator of Punch.

MACMILLAN & CO. will publish under the title of "Christus Imperator!: the universal empire of Christianity in the light of evolution," a series of sermons delivered by the following: Rev. C. W. Stubbs, rector of Wavertree; the Very Rev. G. W. Kitchen, D.D., dean of Winchester; Rev. R. E. Bartlett, Bampton Lecturer at Oxford, 1888; Rev. J. Llewellyn Davies, D.D., vicar of Kirby Lonsdale, and chaplain to the Queen; Rev. W. H. Freemantle, D.D., canon of Canterbury; Rev. S. A. Barnett, M.A., canon of Bristol, and other well-known divines. A volume entitled "A Corner of Cathay," by Adele M. Field, will be issued in September by Macmillan & Co. Miss Field has lived in China for twenty years, and was long an inmate of a native household. The book will be illustrated in an interesting manner.

THE second volume of Moncure D. Conway's collected edition of Tom Paine's works, which will probably appear in the spring, will comprise most of Paine's writings in England between the time of his arrival, September 3, 1787, and his departure for France five years later. The "Rights of Man" will be preceded by a document which has never appeared in English, but was translated from the manuscript by Condorcet for the Chronique du Mois (Paris) of May, June, and July, 1792. It was written a year before its translation in reply to questions addressed to Paine concerning some fundamental provisions of the constitution submitted by the National Assembly, and in it the writer states that he is engaged on a work relating to those subjects. This work was part 2 of "Rights of Man" (published February 17, 1792), several passages of which are anticipated in substance in the manuscript written nearly nine months before.

T. Y. CROWELL & CO. will publish early in March a work by Edward Porritt, of London, on the various departments of the municipal and national life of England. It bears the comprehensive title of "The Englishman at Home: his responsibilities and privileges," and explains in a simple and popular style every detail of the political system of England: municipal administration, poor-laws, justice, taxes, Parliament, education, the National Church and non-conformity, civil service, the army and navy, labor legislation and the daily press. The book is not only interesting but valuable to every reader who wishes to understand the difference between English and American customs. Mr. Porritt was for a time connected with American journalism, but has been for some years the London editor of a prominent Manchester newspaper, a position which gives peculiar insight into English politics and affairs. He is at present residing in Farmington, Conn.

HARPER & BROTHERS have just ready a new volume of short stories by Thomas Hardy, entitled "Life's Little Ironies." They include "The Son's Veto," "For Conscience' Sake," "On the Western Circuit," "The Fiddler of the Reels," "The Superstitious Man's Story," "Absent-mindedness in a Parish Choir;" and "Netty Sargent's Copyhold," with which the volume closes. They have also just added to Harper's Young People Series "The Mystery of Abel Forefinger," by William Drysdale, a boys' story of a cruise among the West Indies. Its heroes are two American youths who become lost in a Nassau jungle, fall into the hands of Cuban bandits, have a ride on a runaway car down a Mexican mountain, encounter a St. Kitts hurricane, explore Robinson Crusoe's island, and have other delightfully thrilling adventures on sea and land. Brander Matthews has collected his "Studies of the Stage" into a volume shortly to be published in the Harper's American Essayists Series. Among the nine subjects treated are "The Dramatization of Novels," "The Dramatic Outlook in America," "The Old Comedies," "A Plea for Farce," and "The Players," the club which Edwin Booth founded for followers of art, literature, and the drama.

COPELAND & DAY, 69 Cornhill, Boston, will shortly put their imprint on an edition of Oscar Wilde's one-act tragedy of "Salome," translated by the author from his original French version, with illustrations by Aubrey Beardsley, on a volume of poems by Francis Thompson, the young North-of-England man, who having come down to London first earned a precarious living by doing drudgeries of all kinds until his genius was discovered, and such men as Browning and Coventry Patmore gave him their aid and encouragement; also on a volume of verse by Miss Katherine Tynan, and on the third edition of Le Gallienne's poems. Their first American book will be "Vagabondia," a book of poems by Bliss Carmen and Richard Hovey, in which it will be left to readers to trace the separate verses to their author, for they will not be signed. Messrs. Copeland & Day have an aesthetic little office in Cornhill, and announce that they hope to need very large, not very limited editions of their publications. In fact, the press generally seems to be somewhat confused concerning the intentions of this firm, and so has given the impression that they are planning the publication of limited editions of sumptuous books merely to gratify personal taste in this direction regardless of pecuniary profit. On the contrary, they intend to get out books as they should be manufactured in times when paper, type, and binding have reached almost perfection in as large editions as may be called for, and they firmly believe that their efforts will meet a demand already existing, and sure to grow if good intrinsic matter in good external shape is well supplied.

FOREIGN NOTES.

J. SALISBURY, 48 Fleet Lane, London, has just issued "A Glossary of Words and Phrases Used in Southeast Worcestershire, together with some of the sayings, customs, etc., common in that district," by Jesse Salisbury.

B. F. STEVENS, of London, has just published "Christopher Columbus: his own book of privileges, 1502." It is a fac-simile, in folio, of the famous Codex in the archives of the Paris Foreign Office, with translation and historical introduction by Henry Harrisse, the American authority on Columbus. This introduction, which contains a curious chapter on the plans, partially carried out, of Napoleon I., to concentrate in Paris the archives of the whole of Europe, has also been printed separately in folio, with plates. There are only twenty copies of this rare volume, and these are to be distributed privately.

M. SPIRGATIS, Leipzig, has just issued the sixth instalment of Karl Dzatzko's Sammlung Bibliothekswissenschaftlicher Arbeiten, under the title "Beiträge zur Theorie und Praxis des Buch und Bibliothekswesens" (Contributions to the Theory and Practice of Books and Library Systems). The nine chapters composing the pamphlet treat of the researches in German printing of the 15th century, describe a journey through the larger libraries of Italy, give a description of the Latin books of the 15th century in the library of the University of Göttingen, discuss the libraries of German universities, their means and their needs, and offer various researches on special volumes of early printing.

H. LE SOUDIER has sent us two editions of the "Annual Catalogue of the Newspapers, Reviews, and Periodical Publications Published at Paris" ("Annuaire des journaux, revues et publications périodiques publiés à Paris"), one with only retail, the other with retail and trade prices. This annual gives the complete titles in alphabetical order, the name of editor, the size, number of pages, the date of origin, the price of single numbers, the rate of subscription for Paris, the Departments, the Postal Union and other countries, the address of the subscription agencies and much other practical information. The periodicals also appear in short title under subject headings. The Annual includes a table of postal tariff for France and other countries. M. Le Soudier has also published the seventh annual map, showing the divisions and locations of the troops of the French army, and giving an index to every army corps and a list of the generals and superior officers in command. The French title reads "Carte de la Répartition et de l'Emplacement des Troupes de l'Armée Française pour l'Année 1894."

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

C. N. CASPAR, 437 E. Water St., Milwaukee, Wis., has just ready the fourth edition of his exceedingly valuable "Practical Catalogue of Law-Books," arranged by subjects, with a complete index to authors, embracing the latest editions of all standard text-books, treatises, reports, digests, etc., which are at present in vogue. (100 p. 16°, pap., 25c.; with key to publishers and interleaved, flex. (price on application).

THE N. Y. ENGRAVING AND PRINTING CO., 320 Pearl St., N. Y., have issued in a neat pamphlet specimens of magazine and book illustrations, engraved on copper by their enamel half-tone process. (40 p. 8°.)

E. STEIGER & Co., 25 Park Place, New York, have sent us twelve parts of a Monthly Bulletin of New German Publications covering January to December, 1893. The bulletin is arranged alphabetically under subjects. (16°, 20 c. a year.)

ORDER NOW:

ANNUAL CATALOGUES, 1893.

The Annual American Catalogue for 1893 contains :

- (1) Directory of American Publishers issuing books in 1893.
- (2) Full-title Record, with descriptive notes, in author-alphabet, of all books recorded in THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY, 1893.
- (3) Author-, title-, and subject-index to same in one alphabet.
- (4) Publishers' annual lists for 1893.

The edition is limited, and to secure copies orders should be sent at once. The price is $3.50 half leather; $3.00 in sheets.

The Annual Catalogue for 1886 and 1887 is now out of print. But few copies of the Annual Catalogue for 1888, 1889, 1890 and 1891 are on hand.

We also supply the English Catalogue for 1893, price $1.50, paper; the Annual American and English Catalogues, 1892, can be had in one volume, half leather, $5.00.

NEARLY READY:

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, ...1893...

INCLUDING PERIODICALS, AMERICAN AND ENGLISH, ESSAYS, BOOK-CHAPTERS, ETC., SPECIAL BIBLIOGRAPHIES AND NECROLOGY OF AUTHORS.

EDITED BY W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER,

With the co-operation of members of the American Library Association and of the Library Journal staff.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX for 1893 complements the "Annual American Catalogue" of books published in 1893 by indexing (1) articles in periodicals published in 1892; (2) essays and book-chapters in composite books of 1892; (3) authors of periodical articles and essays; (4) special bibliographies of 1892; (5) authors deceased in 1892. The two volumes together make a complete record of the literary product of the year.

The new volume includes the features of the "Co-operative Index to Periodicals," originally a monthly supplement to the Library Journal, then extended into a quarterly in an enlarged form, and later issued as an annual volume.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX for 1893 forms the second supplement both to the new five-yearly volume (1887-1891) of Poole's Index to Periodical Literature and to the new A. L. A. Index to essays and book-chapters of Mr. Fletcher.

The new volume will more than fulfil the opinion as to the Co-operative Index expressed in the following extract :

"To the literary worker its value can hardly be over-estimated; to the specialist in any branch of science or letters it is indispensable, since it places within his immediate reach many of the latest fruits of labor in the same field. To every one who desires to be well informed it furnishes the means of making the most effective use of his time."—Provident Press.

One vol., cloth, (uniform with "A. L. A. Index,") $3.50.

Early orders for the above are solicited.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & COMPANY,

4 Park St., Boston,

11 East 17th St., New York,

WILL PUBLISH SATURDAY, FEB. 24:

Cartier to Frontenac.

A Study of Geographical Discovery in the interior of North America in its historical relations, 1534-1700; with full cartographical illustrations from contemporary sources. By JUSTIN WINSOR, author of "Columbus," editor of "Narrative and Critical History of America." 8vo, gilt top, $4.00.

Mr. Winsor here gives an important chapter of the geographical history of the age of American explorations. He narrates the story of the attempts of the French to go into the interior of North America, and shows how by degrees they approximated to an accurate understanding of the problem to be solved.

William Lloyd Garrison, 1805-1879.

The Story of His Life Told by His Children. Illustrated with over 40 portraits, views, etc. 4 vols., 8vo, gilt top, $8.00, net.

This important work (till recently published by the Century Company) has been reduced in price from $12.00 to $8.00, a remarkably low price for what is unquestionably one of the handsomest works of biography ever offered to the public.

A Poet's Portfolio: Later Readings.

By WILLIAM WETMORE STORY, author of "He and She," "Roba di Roma," "Fiammetta," etc. 18mo, parchment paper, $1.00.

This is a little book like Mr. Story's "He and She"—a collection of lyrics strung on the silver thread of an entertaining conversation between a lady and a gentleman.

In Exile, and Other Stories.

By MARY HALLOCK FOOTE, author of "The Chosen Valley," "The Led-Horse Claim," "John Bodewin's Testimony," and "The Last Assembly Ball," etc. 16mo, $1.25.

A volume of excellent short stories including, in addition to the title story, Friend Barton's "Concern," The Story of The Alcázar, A Cloud on the Mountains, The Rapture of Hetty, and The Watchman. Those who have had the good fortune to know Mrs. Foote's novels will understand how fresh and vigorous these short stories must be.

The Blithedale Romance.

By NATHANIEL HAWTHORNE. With an introduction by George Parsons Lathrop. Salem Edition, uniform in style and price with the volumes already published in this edition, which has proved exceedingly popular. Printed from clear type on good paper, with a vignette on the title-page, and tastefully bound in red and gold with a white cloth back and a paper jacket. 30 cents.

The books previously included in the Salem Edition are Hawthorne's

The Scarlet Letter,

Mosses from an Old Manse,

The House of the Seven Gables, The Snow Image,

Twice-Told Tales,

A Wonder-Book.

Ships that Pass in the Night.

A NOVEL.

By BEATRICE HARRADEN.

AUTHORIZED AMERICAN EDITION. TWENTY-SECOND THOUSAND.

Cloth, 16mo, $1.00; Popular Edition, Paper, 50 cents.

"There is a wealth of philosophy, humor and pathos in this little tale; and it is told so simply that one feels as if he were a part of it, somehow. So truly are the human heart-strings struck that he must be beyond redemption whose inner self does not vibrate in sympathy, many times, as the pages are turned. There is an abundance of sound sense, and innumerable quotable passages, and not a dull page. Many a more pretentious volume seeks in vain for such an encomium. New thoughts are suggested because old thoughts are so truly phrased; and new motives and higher aims are inspired by this little book because it gets right down to the human entities and reveal the chords of life as they are, some time or other, in every life. 'Ships that Pass in the Night' is one book in ten thousand; you should read it."—Boston Times.

"'Ships that Pass in the Night' has made its success by purely legitimate methods. . . . The author has a story to tell, a theory to work out, a belief to impart, and that is all—except the important item that she is a good writer, keen and wise in observation and style, liberal and sympathetic in temperament. . . . I sat up half the night to finish the book."—JEANNETTE L. GILDER, in the World.

IRISH IDEAS. Reprinted Addresses.

By WILLIAM O'BRIEN, M.P. Crown 8vo, $1.00.

CONTENTS.—The Irish National Idea—The Lost Opportunities of the Irish Gentry—Among the Clouds in Ireland—A Gem of Misgovernment in Ireland—The Influence of the Irish Language—Are the Irish Evicted Tenants Knaves?—Mr. Morley's Task in Ireland—Toleration in the Fight for Ireland—An Irish Poor Scholar—The Irish Age of Gold—The Future of the Young Men of Ireland.

"A most suggestive little volume, which, touching upon many of its historical and literary ideas, ranges widely over the field of Irish patriotic sentiment. It is a most convenient means of obtaining a rapid insight into the sentimental side of the Irish demand. With the material side Englishmen are familiar enough. . . . No one who desires to realize the Irish question can afford to neglect this little book."—The Speaker.

VARIETIES IN PROSE.

By WILLIAM ALLINGHAM. 3 vols., crown 8vo, $6.00.

Vols. I. and II.—Rambles by Patricius Walker. Vol. III.—Irish Sketches, etc.

 Many of the Rambles and some of the Essays have previously appeared in volume form, but certain of them are now printed for the first time.

"These essays and descriptive papers, some of which are new to us, being now first published, are happily named. Various, indeed, are they in scope as in value and interest. There is a peculiar charm, which we have proved once more to be an abiding charm, for us in these delightful records of impressions of places at home and abroad, their antiquities, history, and literary or artistic associations."—Saturday Review.

Jerome's John Ingerfield, and Four Other Stories. In three of these tales Mr. Jerome writes in a serious vein. The Ingerfields, brave men and stern, masters, are picturesquely sketched. The old family traits reappear in John's unconscious heroism. With portrait of Jerome and nine other illustrations. Small 16mo, gilt top, 75 cents.

RECENTLY PUBLISHED.

Symonds' Short History of the Renaissance in Italy.

Taken from his larger work by Lieut.-Col. Alfred Pearson, who, Mr. Symonds thought, thoroughly appreciated the intention of the larger work and reproduced its essence without any important omissions. With portrait. 12mo, $1.75.

Life and Works of Alexander Anderson, the First American Wood Engraver.

By FREDERIC M. BURR, M.A. With three portraits of Dr. Anderson, and numerous illustrations by himself. To which are added copious extracts from Dr. Anderson's diary for the years 1795-1798.

The edition is printed from TYPE on extra heavy super-finished paper, and is limited to 725 numbered and signed copies. Royal 8vo, half russia, gilt top, $4.00.

Special Edition de Luxe limited to 25 numbered and signed copies. Printed on Crane's parchment vellum paper, and bound in parchment, antique style, stamped with gold (in a box), $12.50.

Only Seven copies of Special Edition unsold.

"Mr. Burr has most conscientiously given us the life and work of our first engraver. . . . The character of the man is cleverly portrayed in the incidents narrated—a plan far preferable to any description based upon the author's own deductions. . . . Mr. Burr has chosen a good topic and has handled it well."—Public Opinion, Washington, D. C.

"The illustrations chosen for this volume are many in number and generally are interesting. They impress us again and again with the superior excellence of Anderson's work."—New York Times.

"The biography is that of a really remarkable man, and is published very handsomely."—Phila. Press.

TO BE PUBLISHED FEBRUARY 20:
Foster's Duplicate Whist and Whist Strategy.

A Complete System of Instruction in Whist Strategy. By the author of "Foster's Whist Manual." The chapters devoted to Strategy will be appreciated by those who have mastered the details of the game; while the methods of "Duplicate Whist," now given in exhaustive form for the first time, will commend themselves to players who have recognized the fact that luck unduly predominates in the game when played according to the English "Laws of Whist." 1 vol., cloth, gilt edges, uniform with "Foster's Whist Manual." . . . $1.00.

This book is now on the press and will be ready for shipment on the date announced. Orders filled in the order of their receipt.

READY FEBRUARY 21.

Advance Orders for First Edition should be sent in now.

A NOTABLE BOOK.

Sandow's Method of Physical Culture.
For Men, Women, and Children.

EDITED BY CAPT. G. MERCER ADAM.

A sure guide to Health and Physical Perfection. A book which no parent can afford to be without.

A magnificent volume, 4to, cloth, embellished by reproductions from photographs by the leading photographers of the world, and 150 marginal drawings specially executed for this work by a pupil of Meissonnier. Price, $3.50.

The extreme delicacy of the illustrations and the additional time required in preparing the press may cause some delay in preparing the second edition, and the trade are respectfully requested to bear this fact in mind and to send in their orders promptly to avoid disappointment. Orders will be booked as received and executed according to priority of receipt.
